APPRECIATION
The preliminary reception tendered the home-coming Tenth Regiment evidenced the pleasures Wednesday night of Western Pennsylvania in seeing its soldier boys again. It mattered not to the happy thousands that he Tenth's experiences at the border had been those only of play at war; the troops were received the same—perhaps a little more joyfully,—than they would have been after a hard service in war.

This play at war at the border, the fear that the nation might be embroiled in a bloody conflict with the revolutionary country to be south has insilled within the people an appreciation of the good things it has, and given them a better understanding of what war-torn Europe must be facing at the present time.

SCHOOL YARDS.
Schools are for the children and school yards ought to be. Such seems to have been the conception of the makers of the school code now in force. However the same idea seems not to have been inculcated in the minds of all the school boards of the state. School yards of course should be improved as much as possible. If the children were interested in the movement to improve them what could not be done. Sufficient room for play in the school yards could be set aside and the remaining space converted into nice lawns and gardens. This thing of forcing children to play on the streets is rather hazardous, and ugly looking grounds never appeal.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

EFFECTIVE HIGHWAY SIGNS

An automobile club at Utica is waging an effective campaign for the better marking of Empire state highways with signs that mean something to motor car travelers. Road signs are neglected in practically every state in the union. In many places signs are totally lacking. In others they are battered or broken or twisted in the wrong direction. A large proportion do not contain the information needed by travelers.

It is of the very first importance to auto traffic that all highways should have sufficient signs of the right kind kept in good repair.

It is a reflection on the several states, however, that so much of the work of constructing these signs has to be done under private auspices. Adequate appropriations should be made by every state looking to proper sign erection and maintenance.—Scranton Republican.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

You can find the lame, the halt and the blind in Boston and Brooklyn and a few in other towns.

The worst street in the Monongahela valley is at—then you know, so what's the use telling.

Politeness.
"It pays to be polite," said Falls.
"To all your fellow-men:
So when a bill collector calls,
Tell him to call again."
—Luke McLuke

The Tenth Regiment is coming home in spite of muzzed publicity from administration sources.

You can tell a man who is not worried about the world's series by his unsophisticated air.

It is a good thing doctors attend the world's series, otherwise you couldn't tell what would happen.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A penitent-looking man was on trial for vagrancy and disturbance of the peace. The judge seemed inclined to be lenient with him.

"What was the prisoner doing when you arrested him?" he said to the policeman.

"He was having a very heated ar-

'Tis the power to come back with the punch that goes by, as the drive put into the game that will land you on top of the mount of success, as you cheer for the highway of fate; mother nature, that firm and determined old girl, always puts over jobs with a slam, and 'tis only the genuine goods can sap through, you are crushed if you're only a sham. You must grab to a rule, and your teeth and just bang through the mesh and you'll find you stay on, if you ever let loose, you are crushed and lost, and your chance then of winning is gone. You must prove to the world you are a man, and you must win a plenty of friends, and you must never relax, till the wind shall subside, then the ladder shall break and shall shatter. Show the bunches that know you can and you will fight your battles, determined to win, we have no other choice, and we all can get by—and today is the time to begin.

"But that doesn't prove that he was the worse for liquor," the judge said. "Many sober people have arguments with cab drivers."

"So they do, your honor," said the policeman, "but in this case there was no cab driver."

A young fellow, who has not long been married, usually confides his troubles to a friend whose matrimonial experiences—covers a period of twenty years.

One day the former remarked very despondently: "I said something to my wife she didn't like, and she hasn't spoken to me for two days."

The eyes of the old married man brightened. "Say old top can you remember what it was you said?"

Editorial Comment.

Bryan butts, Wilson tuts.

Watchful waiting maketh woeful waiting.

Candidate Hughes doesn't talk like a politician.

Hughes is hammering and the Democrats are yammering.

The Wilson Administration stands for taxes, and more taxes.

The Hughes trail will be cold by the time the Democrats settle it.

As a party leader would it be fair to refer to J. Hain Lewis as J. "Port" Lewis?

Can the folks on the Democratic ball stand outside to play by the two sets' rules?

Bryan says Mr. Hughes' talks aren't good. No. The people can understand 'em perfectly.

Hughes says the country can't be saved by letting it drift. That's where he and W. Wilson differ.

Washington reports that a new apology has been sent to First Chief Carranza. Looks like a habit.

Mr. Bryan is mistaken when he says Hughes is "vicious." The candidate is merely applying the acid test.

Political opponents are beginning to find that why Mr. Hughes kept silence so long wasn't because he had lost his tongue.

Another encouraging feature about our new navy is that when it is completed Mr. Daniels will not be secretary of it.

Having discovered that the Democrats don't like what he is saying, Mr. Hughes doubtless is convinced that he is on the right track.

A bond issue by the Wilson administration is merely Uncle Sam's note, and the best thing Woodrow Wilson does is to write notes.

Mr. McCormick follows the same method in claiming credit for legislation as he does in his predictions. He includes several acts of the Taft administration.

The Democratic press is convinced that it is the duty of Mr. Hughes to say something that will hurt his chance of being elected.

President Wilson in his acceptance speech may reply to Mr. Hughes' charges, but he will not answer them. That is an entirely different matter.

A messenger of President Wilson found out that Colorado women were for the administration. No messenger, of course, can be blamed for making good.

It is reported from Washington that the administration will ignore most of Mr. Hughes' charges. That is very much the easiest way for it to answer them.

President Wilson will not make any speaking dates, we are told, but only separate engagements for addresses considering a "speaking tour" undignified. "Too proud to fight."

Tammany Leader Charles T. Murphy announces that he will retire after the campaign. It is believed that many other more or less distinguished Democrats will follow his example.

Governor Hughes announces in one of his speeches that he is a constructionist. But we are willing to admit that so far as Democratic policies are concerned he is a destructionist.

President Wilson will be notified of the Democratic nomination at Shadow Lawn. This seems a most appropriate place for letting him know that he will shortly have to give up his place in the sun.

Grover Cleveland was the last Democratic president. He was also the last president to issue bonds to secure money to defray the running expenses of the government. But Wilson will tie him in this.

"Eminent judges," says Colonel Henry Watters, "have ever proved disappointing candidates." He is right. Alton B. Parker was a big disappointment to the Democrats. And so is Charles Evans Hughes.—Toledo Blade

What Josephine Daniels, the well-known nautical militarist, can't understand is why men should waste time flitting about at sea when they might just as well learn how to become sailors in three lessons in any good, reliable correspondence school.

President Wilson appears to have been keenly alive to the expediency of accepting several invitations to make speeches in the West. Nobody knows any better than he that it will take considerable shoring up to fill up the holes that have been dug in that locality by Justice Hughes.

It was John P. St. John of Kansas, one time prohibitionist candidate for president of the United States, who said that Americans vote as they cheer. If so, there is mighty little consolation for the Democratic party in this campaign, for the Democratic administration in three years has given us nothing to cheer over. On the contrary, as Mr. Hughes has said, these last three years have been years of humiliation and embarrassment.

RAILWAY WRECKS

Quick Rescue Work the Rule When a Smashup Occurs.

"SAVE LIFE" IS FIRST ORDER.

To Accomplish This Every Effort Is Strained, and When That Work Is Done "Clear the Tracks," Regardless of Property Loss, Is the Next Task.

Marvellously efficient is the system of wrecking machinery in use in these days for quick work when a smashup occurs on one of the great railroads. Some of the latest inventions and appliances for clearing tracks after a wreck are described in the Popular Science Monthly. The magazine says:

"Wrecking trains are located on every division of important railroads, standing idle in the yards waiting for emergency—a crane car, with sufficient power to lift a freight car as a child lifts a toy; a supply car, containing ropes, cables, chains, jacks, crowbars, tools, lanterns, fire apparatus, dynamite, rails, ties; a caboose for the wrecking crew."

"When the word comes over the wire that the express and the fast freight have tried to see which could beat the other off the track the wrecking crew assemble in a hurry. They are picked men—these mismeasurements of the rails—each with his specialty. Mechanics, trackmen, men skilled in explosives, strong men, slender men, at least one small but muscular man, they come from roundhouse and shop, freight yards and office at the supreme call. The wrecking boss takes command, the best engine available backs down, and with a clear track the wrecking train gets to the disaster, often ahead of the special containing doctors and nurses.

"There is only one order to be obeyed when the wrecking crew gets into action—'save life.' But once the victims are extricated—and they are taken out in remarkably short time—the order changes. It is not as might be expected, 'save property.' It is 'clear the line.' It makes no difference that five jumbled freight cars contain expensive automobiles, or pianos, or phonographs, or fruit, which might be saved by careful work. If the contents cannot be saved in less than an hour there is only one thing to do. The big steam crane is backed down to the mess; a long, tentacle-like hook descends, chains and ropes are brought into play, and slowly, surely, almost faintly, the crane swings the wrecked freight car and its contents to one side.

"Sometimes the easiest way to clear the lines is to burn the wreck or blow it up. Tracks can be quickly relaid if damaged, but nothing can replace lost time. The price of the cargo of automobiles is nothing against a five hour delay, for the price of delay mounts in stunning geometrical progression. A few hundred dollars for the first hour, it may be many thousands of dollars in the second or third hour. A stoppage of the lines may mean a stoppage of the whole railway system, with hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of freight tied up, confusion, loss, waste.

"And well he knows his work—the crane for this car, the jacks for that. This engine looks like a scrap, but probably will run; put her on the other track. That engine looks all right, but is vitally wounded; throw her off. This car is too inextricably tangled with another in loving embrace to take to pieces, part by part; burn it up and throw the trucks to one side. The small man, a necessary factor, crawls into and out of holes too small for his stronger mates, attaching chains and ropes, reporting conditions, doing work as valuable as that of the Hercules who with a crowbar heaves up a tangle of wheels that a jack may be slipped into position.

"The doctors and the nurses and the relief train have come and gone. Down the line stands an impatient express, behind it a long freight. In the other direction a local is filled with fuming commuters, and perhaps the president's special is close behind. All along the division and soon to spread through the whole system is delay, stalled trains, trains waiting orders, trains costing the company thousands of dollars a minute.

"Over the tangled debris one man stands supreme, snapping his orders like the crack of a whip, utterly unmindful of the property he destroys that other property may move. And as if by magic the lines clear. The last of the bent and broken cars are turned on their sides and slide down the bank. The limping engine goes off behind a switching engine sent for the purpose. If the delay looks long, a temporary sidetrack has been swiftly built and the several waiting trains puff slowly by. The wrecking train whistles. Its crew, driving the last spike to make the track secure, pull out jimmy pipes. The big crane folds its single arm and rests. The men pile into their caboose. The wreck is off the lines—time, fifty-five minutes. The wrecking train has finished its work."

A Straightforward Answer.

J. B. Lippincott once ventured to ask Onida, the novelist, how she came to know so much about clubs, camp life, barracks, gambling houses and other places which are only visited by men. She placed her hands upon her knees and, looking straight at her questioner, said, "It is none of your business."

It's time you were looking up your needs in blankets and comforts. Already the wind has begun to whistle and the cold weather will be on you before you can hardly realize it. We would advise you to get up your needs early. We have prepared for your wants and have bought early and are ready to sell you blankets and comforts at the low prices. But we feel that our present stock at the low prices offered will not last long, and if we have to raise the price in the open market at today's prices we would have to raise the price and the late comers will have to pay more.

Be MR. EARL E. BIRD, get in right

Here we are showing great stocks of blankets and comforts which combine highest quality, in each grade, with lowest possible cost—really good blankets and comforts at the prices of the other kind. You should know that there is a big difference in blankets, many ways of skimping, lots of mill secrets are covered up in the making, but only an expert can detect them. And all comforts are not true to their appearance. Their filling is not just what it should be. Not so with ours—ours are good all the way through.

20 YRS. YOUNGER ASSERTS WOMAN DUE TO TANLAC

Marie Schulz, 77, of Remarkable Recovery Through Using Master Medicine

"I feel twenty years younger and sleep like a log when I go to bed," said Marie Schulz of Grantham Street, North Side, Pittsburgh, Pa., since I began to take Tanlac.

"I had suffered for a long time with rheumatism, gas in my stomach, shortness of breath and my bowels were always giving me trouble.

"I often went for days at a time without sleeping, because of my terrible nervous condition.

"So I got a bottle. I had no idea I would get such quick relief. After I had taken about half a bottle, the rheumatic pains left my limbs. My stomach got so good that I could eat my meals and never feel bad afterward. My bowels got regular. When I would lie down at night my head would hardly touch the pillow until I would be fast asleep. When I awakened in the morning, I felt rested and could hardly believe it was myself.

"Since I have been taking Tanlac, I have not been troubled with gas pressing up against my heart, I eat what I please, I go out among my neighbors and visit them and my friends, and if I want to go to a theatre I go and have a nice time. I never am afraid of being sick any more."

Tanlac is now sold in Charleroi exclusively by Pipers Pharmacy where the proper preparation can now be had.

WARSHIP FIGHTING TOPS.

They Are Now Mainly Used For Sentry and Signaling Work.

Lord Nelson was killed by a musket ball fired from the cross-streets of his French antagonist. Because of this fighting tops came into existence and, being developed to keep pace with other parts of naval construction, came to be a traditional feature of the world's navies.

A century ago, when fighting men—on land and at sea—were armed with muskets and bayoneted rifles, the fighting tops were used to signal the enemy's position and to give the command to fire.

In the days of the sailing ship, the fighting tops were used to signal the enemy's position and to give the command to fire. The tops were used to signal the enemy's position and to give the command to fire.

The tops of the sailing ship were used to signal the enemy's position and to give the command to fire. The tops were used to signal the enemy's position and to give the command to fire.

He has the outlook, reports and questions passing ships and his virtues as a detective against spies. His functions, however, are limited. He is not high enough placed to see the submarine creeping along a score of feet beneath the surface or to note its wake of broken water.

The fighting top is in big cruisers quite a massive affair and to longer the tiny breastwork behind which the picked riflemen of the mainmast. A duplicate set of range finders is usually kept there and used to check off the work of the experts in the fire control tower. There are many quick runners and machine guns, possibly also a high angle gun or two for use against air craft.—Pearson's.

Original Home of Welshmen.

Jutland was probably the original home of our Kymric ancestors, as well as at a later period of some so-called Saxon invaders. It was peopled in classical times by the Cimbric, identified by ethnologists with the Cymry, or modern Welshmen. The Germans magnanimously declined to annex Jutland with Schleswig-Holstein. It was then considered a worthless waste of moors, sand dunes and marshes. But the industrious Danes have transformed what one English traveler styled "a forsaken wilderness" into the most prosperous pastoral countries of western Europe.—Westminster Gazette.

Bee's Double Stomach.

The bee has two distinct stomachs. In the first it stores away the honey it so industriously gathers up from the flowers until such time as it is ready to feed it up. While the other stomach is used simply as a store for digestion purposes. Thus the food and the honey are never mixed. When the bee returns to the hive and is ready to deposit the honey it has gathered it contracts the muscles of the stomach, by which act the honey is ejected through the mouth. As to bee food, it is various in kind, consisting largely of the honey it so patiently makes for others.

citizen soldiers all the training the manual calls for.

One of the main features of the was that of the comparatively recent 100-mile hike from Camp Stewart far into New Mexico. The first night was spent at a smelter camp out of El Paso, the second night at Anthony, N. M. and the third night at Newman. The trip took less than four days and could have been made in three. The way in which the so-called national guards stood the hike was the surprise of the Federal army officers, who declared it was something they could not get their regular army men to do. Very few men were unable to complete the journey afoot, much to the wonder of the commanding officers of the regular army. Company A made a record in the hike.

The Charleroi soldiers who returned with Company A were Earl Wagner, Leroy Carson, James Geelke and Wilson Piper. Thomas Thomlinson, who some time ago was transferred to the signal corps was unable to accompany his original company back. George Niver, formerly of Charleroi, remains at the border with the Sixteenth Regiment. "Kenny" Cordes and "Bill" Cordes, formerly of Charleroi, came home with Company L of the Tenth. Corporal Elmer Wolfe is in Mexico with General Pershing, as a member of Company K, Seventeenth U. S. Cavalry, and William Thompson, formerly of Shovel Row, Charleroi and later of Pittsburgh is with the regular Cavalry at the border.

It is expected that orders will shortly be issued for the return of other companies, according to Company A men, though of course there is nothing definite about it. Coming home the Tenth fared far better than it did going, traveling on first class Pullman cars. Going, the trip was made in day coaches, with poor accommodations.

A Centralized Storehouse

THE VITAL PART OF YOUR CABINET

The picture above shows how the scientific arrangement of the Hoosier makes it a real helper. Storage space is above and below. There is plenty of unhampered room above and around the aluminum (or porcelain) work-table.

There are no useless little partitions to chop up the space and leave no room for work. Your cabinet must have big table space to work on. The Hoosier gives it.

Come and see these six exclusive Hoosier features:

- 1—The all-metal front flour bin.
- 2—The gear-driven shaker flour sifter which makes flour light and fluffy.
- 3—Scientific arrangement—articles needed most frequently easiest reached.
- 4—Revolving caster (shown in center of illustration).
- 5—The ingenious, big-capacity sugar bin—holds more than twice as much as most other bins.
- 6—Finally, either doors with a handy rack for small utensils, or rolling doors.

PRICES AND TERMS
There are over 1,000,000 Hoosier Cabinets in use. Enormous factory output makes our low prices, which now range from $12.50 to $42.50, possible.

Have the Hoosier delivered at once by paying only $1.00! You may make payments at the rate of $1.00 per week, without extra cost or interest. And regardless of the room in your kitchen, there's a special Hoosier model to fit, at a price you can easily afford.

WE CAN TELL YOU ABOUT THE HOOSIER—BUT YOU MUST SEE IT
We can talk about these wonderful conveniences, but to really appreciate the great amount of time the Hoosier will save you, you must see and examine these features yourself in our store.

Just remember that tomorrow for only $1 you can start using these labor-saving features in your kitchen, and come in today.

Have a demonstration of its exclusive work-saving features. No obligation incurred if you don't want to buy now. But at least learn why over a million women can't do without a Hoosier.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES

DR. HARVEY W. WILEY TO VOTE FOR HUGHES.

He Says Wilson Has Failed to Enforce
Pure Food Law.

"I favor the election of Mr. Hughes to the Presidency for entirely different reasons than those held by most of his supporters. It is not because of the Mexican policy nor the foreign policy of the administration nor by reason of its domestic policies. It is because of the apparent indifference of the administration of President Wilson to the cause of pure foods and drugs. Practically all of the abuses which were injected into the pure food law by the preceding administrations are still in force. Benzoin of soda is still rampant. The fumes of burning sulphur are marching along undisturbed. There is evidently a lull in the activities of the administration of the law. A well-known beverage, declared by the supreme court misbranded and amenable to the food law has not been molested. No attempt has been made to enforce the law in regard to the bleaching of flour. The repeal of the mixed flour law, that splendid safeguard to the purity of our bread, has been readily approved by the treasury department.

"Mr. Hughes in his activities on the supreme court has stood like a strong wall for the proper administration of the food law. I believe his election would see a radical change in the attitude of the government towards pure food and pure drugs, so vital to the welfare of our people. For this reason I sincerely hope that Mr. Hughes may be chosen as our next president.

"I should expect Mr. Hughes as president to have the same attitude toward the pure food and drug law that he had as a judge on the bench and to appoint a secretary of agriculture with subordinate officers who would be enthusiastic and earnest in the enforcement of the pure food law for the benefit of the physical, mental and moral welfare of our people."

WE SHOULD CONSIDER WHAT IS RIGHT,
THEN DO IT.
*****

"Our government is based on the idea that we have Legislatures to investigate, to consider what is right and to do what is right. It is based on the idea that public opinion is formed from discussion of questions, and that we can come possibly to right solutions. It is not based on the idea that the Government must act without knowing the justice and merits of the cause in which it acts."—Mr. Hughes in His Speech at Portland, Maine.

*****
STAND LIKE A ROCK.

"Government under pressure is not American government. Whenever pressure is applied to any public officer he ought to stand like a rock and say: 'Here I stand until we substitute reason for force. It is not an American doctrine to legislate first and investigate afterward.'"—Mr. Hughes in His Speech at Portland, Maine.

*****
Hughes Sympathetic With Demands of Labor Which Are Proved to Be Just.

"I am sympathetic with every demand to improve the conditions of labor, to secure reasonable compensation for labor. I am in sympathy with every effort to better human conditions, and particularly the condition of those who toil in industrial pursuits, in railroad pursuits, in all these great activities that are essential to our prosperity. But when you have a proposition to change the scale of wages you have a vital proposition which requires examination. You must at least know whether the demand is a just one.

"Labor, of course, should not desire anything but what is just. I do not believe labor intends to ask for anything but what is just. What is just can be examined and will survive investigation. Nothing is lost by having the process of reason applied if only that which is just is required."—Mr. Hughes in His Speech at Portland, Maine.

*****
DEMAND WAS NOT FOR AN EIGHT HOUR DAY.
*****

"It is said that the judgment of society has made the demand for the eight-hour day. This was not an eight-hour day, and the judgment of society had nothing to do with the proposition laid before congress and passed by congress. The proof of this is found in the bill itself, which proposes an investigation to find out whether Congress had any business to do the thing which it was asked to do, and which it did do."—Mr. Hughes in His Speech at Portland, Maine.

*****
STAND LIKE A ROCK.

"Government under pressure is not American government. Whenever pressure is applied to any public officer he ought to stand like a rock and say: 'Here I stand until we substitute reason for force. It is not an American doctrine to legislate first and investigate afterward.'"—Mr. Hughes in His Speech at Portland, Maine.

*****
THERE SHOULD BE NO ACTION UNDER PRESSURE, UNDER DICTATION.
*****

"We have one priceless treasure in this country, and that is the reign of good judgment after public discussion. In the long history of the people, victory after victory has been won over tyranny and force. We have a free press, we have a free form of public discussion, to the end that there may be a general understanding of our activities and a general appreciation of what is necessary to the improvement of our conditions. We may disagree about this measure or that, but we have confidence in the public judgment in the long run. Hence there is one thing which we must always maintain, and that is that there shall be no action on the part of our elected representatives, taken under pressure, under dictation. We must know what the facts are and what justice requires."—Mr. Hughes in His Speech at Portland, Maine.

*****
NO ONE WAS AFRAID OF HAITI.
*****

Haiti did not behave as badly to us as Mexico behaved; but Mr. Wilson intervened, fought the Haitians, shedding their blood and the blood of our troops, took possession and now has our armed forces in control of Haiti and directing its government. His course of action in Haiti can be defended only if his course of action in Mexico is unqualifiedly condemned: for such action was far more needed in Mexico than in Haiti. But there was a difference in the two cases; and to Mr. Wilson it was a vital difference. Haiti was weaker than Mexico. No one was afraid of Haiti. From the Speech of Colonel Roosevelt Delivered at Lewiston, Maine, in Behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

*****
The President says that he is above all things else "an American citizen." Fortunately for him, nothing has taken him to Europe or Mexico during the past few years.

Papers that used to call McKinley a crook and Roosevelt a tyrant are scandalized now that anybody should breathe a whisper against our high and holy Woodrow.
